What is the real meaning of the visit of the three kings to Jesus, and does that visit have meaning for us today?

At the most fundamental level, the three kings represent all of the world's nations. These nations come and share their treasures with Jesus. In this context, the mission of the three kings can be seen as a challenge to all nations to recognize Jesus and share the treasures they have.

We can link the story of the three kings with another in Scripture—the multiplication of the loaves (see Matthew 14:13–21). In this story, the disciples represent the three kings. The disciples ask Jesus: “How can we possibly provide food for all these people?” But Jesus insists: “You yourselves give them food to eat.” So the disciples divide up their five loaves and two fish, and everyone has enough to eat.

The Gospel message is that when we share what we have, then we will have enough for all. We can look at it from a broader viewpoint: When one nation shares with another, there is enough for all. We all work toward this sense of sharing in our own lives by not accumulating more than we need and by trying to share with those who have less. We can contribute on another level by being heard through our political choices and through our involvement in local, national, and international issues.

We are not perfect, but the Lord does not demand perfection. The Lord asks for progress and an honest effort. May the Lord strengthen us to share more at home and internationally, so that all of us may royally sit together at our king's banquet.

Happy Epiphany! Christmas continues! Today we hear about the Wise Men who are searching, following and looking for greater things in life. Who isn't seeking something more? More peace, more wisdom, more wonder, more faithfulness, or how many mores? Traditionally, we say the wise men are following a star. Having looked up to the sky for years, and studied past histories of constellations and world events, the wise men find a star's sudden appearance or this star's peculiar movement unique and it leads them to leave their homes to learn more about it. What stirred their hearts so much to leave everything and go out to discover more? Last year, many people in our country found themselves in this position as 'Apoc-ECLIPSE' approached our area! We all might ask (even ourselves), "What led people last August 21, to drop everything and join great crowds, driving to areas within our country inside the 'eclipse totality zone'?" Were we seeking an experience of a lifetime, an experience of being part of 'history', or an experience that may change our routine outlook, and deepen our appreciation of God's creative magnificence as the designer of this wondrous world? The eclipse experience deepened my reverence for God as the creator-designer of this world! I think the wise men in the gospel were seeking God, too! Regardless of their immediate motivation, maybe they thought they would go 1) to write a new astronomy book and advance their science OR 2) to become part of history welcoming this new sign in the sky, marking the rise of a new kingdom or the coming of a new era ushered in by a new ruler-king! I'd say they went for both of those reasons and more! They know their science and this change in the sky marks something new coming. Beyond that, this sign in the sky opened a new period of history and maybe the rise of a saving movement in the world. Maybe they knew something or just felt called to pursue this 'new beyond'. Their study led them to God: Jesus, the Kingdom of God, and a new reorientation of their human living. It all begins with wonder and seeking! These Wise Men were seeking God, through their human pursuit of truly greater things-that something more, unknown now, but hinted at by events and experience.

Romans 1:20 tells us that God can be known through His creation, when it says "Ever since the creation of the world, his invisible attributes of eternal power and divinity have been able to be understood and perceived in what he has made." I recently re-read a newspaper interview with Bro. Consolmagno, who is director of the Vatican Observatory while he was a guest of Fr Richard Meredith in Hopkinsville, KY during the August eclipse. The Jesuit astronomer Bro. Consolmagno said that "Being a scientist can be a way of worshipping God..... we can praise the Creator by studying creation, studying it honestly and finding out how God created this place. There will never be a shortage of marvels for us to discover" (CNS-Dennis Sadowski). Psalm 19:2, expresses the same point when saying, "The heavens (sky) declare the glory of God; the firmament proclaims the works of his hands." The account of the Wise Men's journey is only found in Matthew. But if we refer to Luke's telling of the birth story, we hear of luminous angel messengers also in the sky announcing, "Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace to those on whom his favor rests" (Luke 2:14) I like how the amazing angels in the night sky (also a light in the heavens) are redirecting the shepherds to keep watch also upon human beings, turning their upward gaze laterally toward everyone around/beside them on earth. What is going on here? God through the angels is focusing our attention also upon the wonder of human relations, God's revelation of himself in/through our human nature. God in the highest is working through the earthiest! God on high has been born below. The highest entering the lowest! That is God's wisdom! Jesus will echo that so much in his teaching, about the greatest being the least, the first being last, & the exalted being humbled in his kingdom! Yet, back to the angels. They actually say "Peace to those on earth favored by God". I suggest we interpret that to mean 'graced by God' in the sense that God is factored into this experience. Or understand it as 'Peace to those on earth aware of God, realizing God is at work, holding God in mind, accepting God and believing in God! If God is our ultimate reference beyond the starlight in the sky, then the angels are telling us 'the stars are awesome, but human nature and the miracle of life sitting beside you is more amazing.'" Look there! The angels specifically say this when they tell the shepherds, Luke 2:12 "this will be a sign for you: you will find an infant wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger." The same God who created and can be known through creation, made both the stars and human beings! Yet, even more close to home, God was not born a 'star' to save us, God was born human in Jesus to save us! So we can find the handiwork of God in the light of the stars, BUT so much more we find the heart/identity of God in the life of our neighbors and ourselves, too. That is something to seek and study! Yet, there is even more!

We can study the book of scripture, we can study the book of nature (which includes our human neighbors) and perhaps a final challenge is to study the book of our own selves. Who are we, and what do we bring of ourselves to present to Jesus and His Kingdom as a gift, like the Wise Men did? God who made us, made each of us unique to fill a space, fulfill a role, in this divinely designed universe. Do we know it? This may be the greatest study or seeking of our lives. It evokes in us a lot to pray about. I will close this epiphany reflection with a summary quote from a great 'creation-spirituality' theologian who lived in the 300's AD, St Basil of Caesarea. He wrote, "We are being taught the nature of other created things, but we are ignorant of ourselves. In truth the most difficult of sciences is to know one's self. Not only our eye, from which nothing outside us escapes, cannot see itself; but our mind, so piercing to discover the sins of others, is slow to recognize its own faults. Thus my speech, after eagerly investigating what is external to myself, is slow and hesitating in exploring my own nature. Yet the beholding of heaven and earth does not make us know God any better than the attentive study of our own being does; As the Prophet says 'I am fearfully and wonderfully made'; that is to say, in observing myself I come to know Thy infinite wisdom. (Hexaemeron Homily 9.6)

Here are some daily questions to consider in our prayer time!

Sunday: What word or thought stays with me after mass today? How can I act upon it this week or put it into practice?

Monday: "The Wise still seek!" Do I take time each day to seek or learn something new about the world and people around me? What new may God have prepared for my finding, if I take the time to ask or search?

Tuesday: Practice being as amazed at your coworker, neighbor or brother/sister as you are at a starry sky or shining sunrise.

Wednesday: The Wise Men offer gifts! What gifts do I have to offer God for His kingdom? What does God want me to do for Him? Have you given anything today for God's glory?

Thursday: In what ways are the Three Kings different from King Herod as kings? What do we learn from the style of leadership exhibited by the Wise Men? How do they exercise their authority?

Friday: Perform an act of sacrifice or penance for the good of another person in thanksgiving for Christ's sacrifice for us.

Saturday: Plan to come to mass early and pray the Rosary in thanksgiving for blessings received this week!

Peace and Prayers, Fr Brian Johnson

PRAYER AND SPIRITUALITY

A Word from Pope Francis:

"Discernment is so important in the spiritual life. You who direct Jesuit students, you must teach discernment. It is what allows us to know the guiding direction of God. If you work with a Jesuit in training, who has not learned discernment and shows little willingness to learn it, even if he is an excellent scholar, tell him to look for another path. The Jesuit must be a master of discernment, for himself and for others. St. Ignatius did not ask us to do two examinations of conscience a day to get rid of lice or fleas. No, he did it because we have to examine and see what happens in our heart. In my opinion, the vocational criterion for the Society is this: Can the candidate discern or will he learn to discern? If he knows how to discern, he knows how to recognize what comes from God and what comes from the Devil. If he discerns, then advance him in his formation. Even if he does not understand much, even if they fail him at the exams, it is OK, as long as he knows spiritual discernment. Think of our own Jesuit St. Peter Claver. He knew how to discern and knew that God wanted him to spend his life serving missions among the black slaves. He gave himself upholding their dignity. What about others in the academy? While St Peter Claver was serving among the black slaves, some esteemed theologians were discussing whether or not the slaves had a soul. That shows no discernment among the scholars. Does God need that? (Conversation with Jesuit Students/Formators in Myanmar 11-29-2017).

AROUND AND ABOUT

Catholic Faith Information: Please check out and pick up any of the free pamphlets and booklets in the back of church about Catholic teaching and practices. They are excellent resources from the Knights of Columbus about our faith beliefs!

Called by Name Program: Every young Catholic man should consider all vocations, including whether or not God is calling him to priesthood. However, if not invited or encouraged to think about priesthood, it may never be considered. Many young men may have the burning question within of God calling them to priesthood, but they may be waiting for a confirmation from someone else, to nudge them into seriously pursuing God's priestly call for them. Do you know a faithful young man who may have a vocation to the priesthood? We believe that our future priests will come from our own parishes and schools, but we need your help to identify them. We're looking for high school students and older. Any man you recommend will receive good information from the Vocation Office about discerning his vocation, as well as invitations to discernment retreats and other events. Tell Fr Brian, Deacon Mike or Deacon Tony, to approach them or to invite the vocation director to reach out to them.

Opportunities for Life: January 13-14 is the weekend designated for the Annual Collection to support Opportunities for Life. Opportunities for Life is a life affirming ministry of the Bishops of Kentucky. The OFL ministry is available 24 hours a day 7 days a week to offer confidential, non-judgmental emotional support, and information to those affected by an untimely pregnancy. Please be generous in your support of this ministry. In addition to your generous gift, please pray for the OFL volunteers and for those the ministry serves. To learn more about Opportunities for Life, and volunteer opportunities with the ministry, please call 888-496-3638.

SOLEMNITY OF THE EPIPHANY OF THE LORD Bless this threshold

Think of everything that goes on in your home. Whether you live in a studio or on an estate, home is where the action is. Meals eaten, laundry folded, conversations shared, faults confessed, injuries forgiven, promises made, dreams spoken out loud, victories celebrated, defeats laid to rest, births welcomed, wanderers embraced, sickness tended, disappointments endured, deaths grieved—these are the many elements by which the vitality of our homes is measured. Doesn't a space this important deserve a New Year's blessing? Celebrate a ritual for these rooms where love puts down its roots.

TODAY'S READINGS: Isaiah 60:1-6; Ephesians 3:2-3a, 5-6; Matthew 2:1-12 (20). "Nations shall walk by your light, and kings by your shining radiance."

Monday, Jan 08, 2018

FEAST OF THE BAPTISM OF THE LORD
Be prepared

Moments of great insight and personal revelation, such as the experience Jesus had when he emerged from the waters after John baptized him, are a gift from God. But the ground is ours to prepare. It is doubtful that Jesus arrived at this moment of his life, which marked the beginning of his public ministry, without having spent a good deal of time in prayer and quiet reflection. We can do the same. Working with the limitations of time and the circumstances of your life, create a time and space every day for prayer and quiet contemplation or meditation. Many people make it the first thing in their day. That way it doesn't get lost. Prepare the ground, so that when the Spirit "descends like a dove" with a revelation for you, it will find a solid place to perch.

TODAY'S READINGS: Isaiah 42:1-4, 6-7 or 55:1-11; Acts of the Apostles 10:34-38 or 1 John 5:1-9; Mark 1:7-11 (21). "One mightier than I is coming after me."

Tuesday, Jan 09, 2018

FIRST WEEK IN ORDINARY TIME
What possessed you?

It's worthy to note that the "unclean spirits" in the gospel stories speak in the plural: "What have you to do with us, Jesus of Nazareth? Have you come to destroy us?" Why is that? The "possessed" person is one who has lost his center, whose soul is divided, split and without grounding or foundation in the "Holy One of God." He is dominated by one voice, then by another. No wonder he speaks in the plural. Today, we might take a moment to ask ourselves, What is my center? From where do my thoughts and actions flow? Then make any necessary adjustments.

TODAY'S READINGS: 1 Samuel 1:9-20 or 1:1-8; Mark 1:21-28 or 1:14-20 (306 or 305). "The man with the unclean spirit cried out, 'I know who you are, the Holy One of God!'"

Wednesday, Jan 10, 2018

Healer, heal thyself

You may have heard the expression "wounded healer." It suggests that you don't have to be perfectly healthy to help others. But you have to be careful not to bring your unresolved problems into helping relationships with others, or you could do a lot of damage. Scripture makes it clear that taking care of your personal spiritual health should come first. Peter's mother-in-law took to her bed when she was ill and only served the apostles after Jesus healed her. You can give of yourself only if you have something to give. Think about some ways you can improve your spiritual health—by doing some spiritual reading, praying more, seeking the sacrament of Reconciliation, or going on a retreat.

TODAY'S READINGS: 1 Samuel 3:1-10, 19-20; Mark 1:29-39 (307). "Jesus took her by the hand and lifted her up. The fever left her, and she began to serve them."

Thursday, Jan 11, 2018

Take in the outcast

In the gospel era, lepers were considered rejects of society. According to the law of Moses, they had to announce their presence to everybody within earshot so they could be avoided. Yet, with a simple choice, a word, and a gesture, Jesus restored a leper to health so he could be around others without being afraid. How many people will we encounter today who, by their appearance or their language, will announce their rejection by society? Part of doing God's will is choosing to welcome the stranger and include those whom society rejects into our lives.

Stick with the basics

The Gospel of Mark is the story of Jesus told in simple language for simple folk, without big words or extra commentary. But even without embellishment, extraordinary things happen—friendship so phenomenal that a paralytic makes an unlikely grand entrance followed by a more dramatic exit. It's plain to see Jesus works wonders, not just forgiving unforgivable sins but proving his right to do so by giving the paralyzed power to walk. If we're paralyzed today, it's because we've made life more muddled than Mark, wrapped up in rationalizations and fancy phrases when all we really need is "Jesus saves."

TODAY'S READINGS: 1 Samuel 8:4-7; Mark 2:1-12 (309). "They removed the roof above Jesus, and let down the mat on which the paralytic lay."

MEMORIAL OF HILARY, BISHOP, DOCTOR OF THE CHURCH
Make the ask

Saint Hilary of Poitiers (d. 368), a midlife convert, felt great passion for the Christian concept of God—the Trinity—and fought hard against the Arians, who denied the divinity of Christ. For Hilary, Jesus wasn't simply a holy person; Jesus was the Christ, the second person of the Trinity. Therefore, Hilary argued, it is through Jesus that we find our way to God's grace: "We have been promised, and he who made the promise is trustworthy: 'Ask, and it will be given to you; seek, and you will find; knock, and it will be opened to you.'" No matter what you've done or failed to do, your sins will be forgiven, if you just ask.

TODAY'S READINGS: 1 Samuel 9:1-4, 17-19; 10:1a; Mark 2:13-17 (310). "All the crowd came to him and he taught them."
